Volume 3

You hear it all the time, "School isn't that bad!" Well, you have admit it's true. Think back to all those mathematical equations, grammatical errors and burnt up lab experiments of the past year. You have to admit BHS students, it wasn't that bad.

In-class time is probably the shortest actual time spent in the Glory Days of high school, although the most important. This is when the BHS student develops himself as an intelligent person ready to face tomorrow. Even though in-class time involves taking notes and solving problems, it is also making new friends and "learning something new every day."

Students develop a taste for their favorite classes and even a tolerance for their not so favorite ones. Although many students have a lot to think about, there is still that rewarding feeling of satisfaction when the term ends and they can look back at what they've accomplished. Especially satisfying is answering the questions from under classmen about courses. "Nah, it wasn't so bad. Take the course!"

It wasn't so bad.

1. Rick Hollis carrying a few books to another fun-filled class. 2. Rick Dacey being congratulated by Mr. Duggan for a job well done in music academics. 3. Michelle Moosick, Christine Coleman, John Stander, Tom Snedeker and Andre' Taylor taking some time from woodshop to give us a smile. 4. "Hey, don't take my picture", says Scott Smith while in electronics class. 5. Brian Gellately, Matt Wright, David DeLellis, Dennis Casteller, and Rob Carlson having a laugh in the library during their study hall. 6. Mike DeMattio learning about life in biology with a new friend.

1. Allyson McLaughlin and Kara Flynn hangin' in there.
 2. Karen Cierpial getting some work done after school. 3. Some seniors, such as Seamus Garrett, Christine Martell, Heather McGilvray, Mike Kenny, Allyson McLaughlin, Jen Maxon, Helen Perkinson, Dave O'Neil, Crystal Murphy, Kara Flynn, and Debbie O'Neil are still kids at heart.
 4. "I can't wait to get out of school!" says Dennis Castetter.

★ Time Out ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

1. Darlene Simmons and Mary Mead leave school to go to work at Papa Gino's. 2. Ty Tyer just can't wait to get wrapped for football by Mr. Cacciola. 3. "Hangin' out after school is what we seniors do best after school!" think Linda Pyszczynski, Denise Paganis, Rob Strange, Debbie Looney, Michelle Lipczer, Mike McCravey, and Jeff French. 4. Kim Travers is all set to tape for Telemedia.

The two o'clock bell rings and BHS students leave their G period class with an exclamation of relief! Everyone disperses in different directions. Some people go to sports practice, some go for extra help in their "favorite" subject, some go home, some head to work and others just hang around the school. Most people would agree that not all of the Glory Days of high school are spent in classes.

The most famous gathering place is the old cafeteria. It is considered the hot spot of the school where people can talk, socialize and possibly study without being supervised by teachers.

Other areas where BHS'ers can always be found after school include the library, the counseling office, the parking lot and Mr. Cacciola's office. Athletes line up with ankle wraps in hand and entertain themselves by talking with fellow athletes.

High school is a time for learning, but possibly more importantly it is a time for having fun. Talking and laughter can always be heard in the high school's hangouts.

1. Three senior dudes Pat Shaw, Chuck Gerbrands, and Chris Naugler pose in the cafeteria. 2. Tricia Leonick and Mia Klein; friends forever. 3. "Kristin, just look happy for the picture and maybe the photographer will go away," says Pam Beckwith to Kristin Dougherty. 4. Rob Fitzgerald is surrounded by his admirers, Dottie Iovino, Mary Mead, and Mellisa Melvin. 5. Chris Massa, Carol McClatchey, Steve Bishop, Mike Callendar and Debbie Lovely enjoy a break between classes.

1. Marcia Clements and Kathy Sutton are captured in true senior spirit. 2. Hannah Bragg and Kim Murphy taking a break from SAT studying. 3. Sue Dameron and Sue Reynolds practice to become Picasso hopefuls. 4. Helen Perkinson is swept off her feet by Russ Smith. 5. Lisa Simmons, Teresa Tillman, Alicia Casey, Stacey Rogers, and Marian Zuckerman enjoy lunch together.

When we think of high school, probably the first thoughts that come to mind are of academics, sports, band, etc. Yet equally important to us during these years of growth are our friends- those special people who keep us afloat when reports, rehearsals, and that pile of homework are threatening to pull us under. Of these friends, some we have known since kindergarten, while others we have known only since seventh grade or maybe even as recently as ninth grade. Nevertheless, however long we have known them, it does not take long to develop that special bond which exists among people who share the same joys and burdens as they struggle through these best and worst of times. Whether helping a fellow student with some school work, encouraging or consoling a teammate, or relating with that special confidant who lets us open our heart to him, these relationships are a part of the fabric of our high school experience.

"They must have made a mistake!" thought Rachell Bishop when the D.J. announced that she was the Queen of the Junior Prom. Rachell was especially surprised considering that only a few weeks before she had not even been sure if she was going to the event. The evening was not only memorable for Rachell, but also for all who attended.

The warm temperature of the high school gymnasium did not wilt the atmosphere of the 1985 Junior Prom, "Faithfully." The gym was transformed by the class of 1986 from a basketball court into a mirage of streamers, stars and silhouetted skylines. The evening consisted of dinner followed by the dance and then the traditional parties. The next day, many high school students headed for Good Harbor, Hampton, or Wingearshaek beaches, despite the cool, cloudy weather.

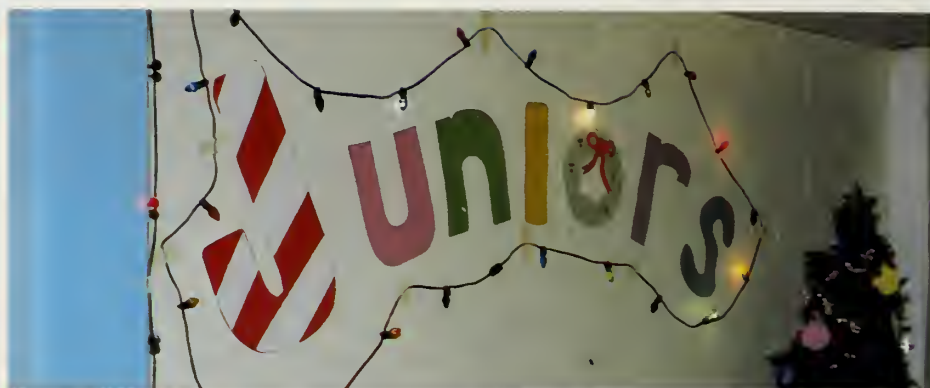

For everyone who attended the Junior Prom, the memories will last forever. May 25th proved to be one of the most glorious events of our high school career.

ULTRA SPIRIT

Spirit Week, a favorite past time at Bedford High School, had an overwhelming response between the days of Tuesday, September 15 and Friday, September 18. The student body showed exceptional spirit by dressing up, participating in the pep rally, and sending blue or white flowers to their friends.

Students dashed into the first ultraspirited day, Clash Day, with arrangements of plaids, polka dots, bright colors and flower patterns. For those who missed their chance to intentionally mismatch, Fifties Day allowed students to emulate geeks, jocks, teenie boppers, and greasers. Thursday, Costume Day, provided to most amusing day for people walking through the halls. On this day togas, diapered babies, Mr. T look-a-likes, and stuffed animal imitations invaded the school. The week came to a spirited end with the everlasting Blue and White Day and the Pep Rally. This year the immensely spirited seniors and underclassmen contributed to another impressive rally.

1. Linh Doan as a gypsy. 2. Sharon Wachsler show us that covergirl face. 3. "Have you ever had one of those days?" asks Patti Sciaraffa. 4. Kristen Hocker and Christine Martell pose in their togas. 5. Underclassmen showing spirit are: Jacqueline Mitchell, Lisa Hartwell, Pamela Miller, Suzy Asbedian, Robin Folwoiler, Laura Maxon, and Lisa Linz. 6. Imagine Jennifer Weisz if she lived in the 1950's.

Homecoming

Saturday, October 19, 1985 was an overcast, rainy day, but the Homecoming events went on as scheduled. The game against Wayland did not give spectators much to cheer about, but the crowning of the queen added a spark of excitement. Because of the weather, the traditional red convertible could not be used. Instead the five finalists congregated in the center of the field with their escorts, all bearing drenched umbrellas. The dreary day was brightened by the smiles of the proud relatives and friends as the runners-up were announced. The culmination of the events was when Crystal Murphy was crowned Homecoming Queen.

That night at the Homecoming Dance, a new tradition was started. BHS seniors voted for a Homecoming King. A break was taken from the dancing and Mrs. Gullage announced that David O'Neil was the first King in BHS history. Despite the foul weather, the day was successful and exciting.

1. First runners-up Pam Dutra and Russ Smith enjoy a dance after the king was announced. 2. Pam Dutra is congratulated by Mr. Buckley. 3. Second runner-up Carol McClatchey and fourth runner-up Paul St. Amour celebrating their victories. 4. Mr. Cierpial stands proudly by his daughter, Karen. 5. Dave O'neil, Barclay Scheick, Jeff French, and T.J. McNeany look at the pile topped by Herman Rice. 6. Deb O'Neil and her father await the decision. 7. The king, Dave O'Neil, and his court: Mike DeMattio, second runner-up; Paul St. Amour, fourth runner-up; and Ty Tyer, third runner-up. 8. King and queen, Dave O'Neil and Crystal Murphy, lead the first dance. 9. Laura Sullivan and second runner-up Mike DeMattio enjoy the evening. 10. Mr. Wilson stands with the Queen, Crystal Murphy.

Back to the Future

Steven Bishop and Neil Amidon dressed for success in preparation for future Glory Days.

As we look back at the time that we have spent at Bedford High School, it is hard not to feel regretful at leaving. We have made memories which will last forever. Between 1981 and 1986 we have experienced many things which we will soon be referring to as "the good ole days." We can never forget the Saturday night dances, the football games, the proms, pep rallies, spirit week, Homecoming, field trips and other sporting and social events. When we look at our last four years, we realize that we had a great time despite all of the frustrating school work.

The prospect of leaving our familiar high school may bring a tear to the eye. We realize that we will be going to high school classes for the last time, we are going to be separated from our friends, and we will probably never again be in a situation where we are surrounded by our peers whom we know so well and with whom we can have so much fun.

Can leaving high school mean the majority of our Glory Days are over? Far from it! We are on our way to seeing new places, making new friends and reaching our goals. We are going to burst out of BHS to become the Ronald Reagans, Princess Dianas and Lee Iacoccas of 1990's. And we can do all of this while still holding onto the special relationships which we have formed during these four years. Look out world, here comes the BHS class of 1986.

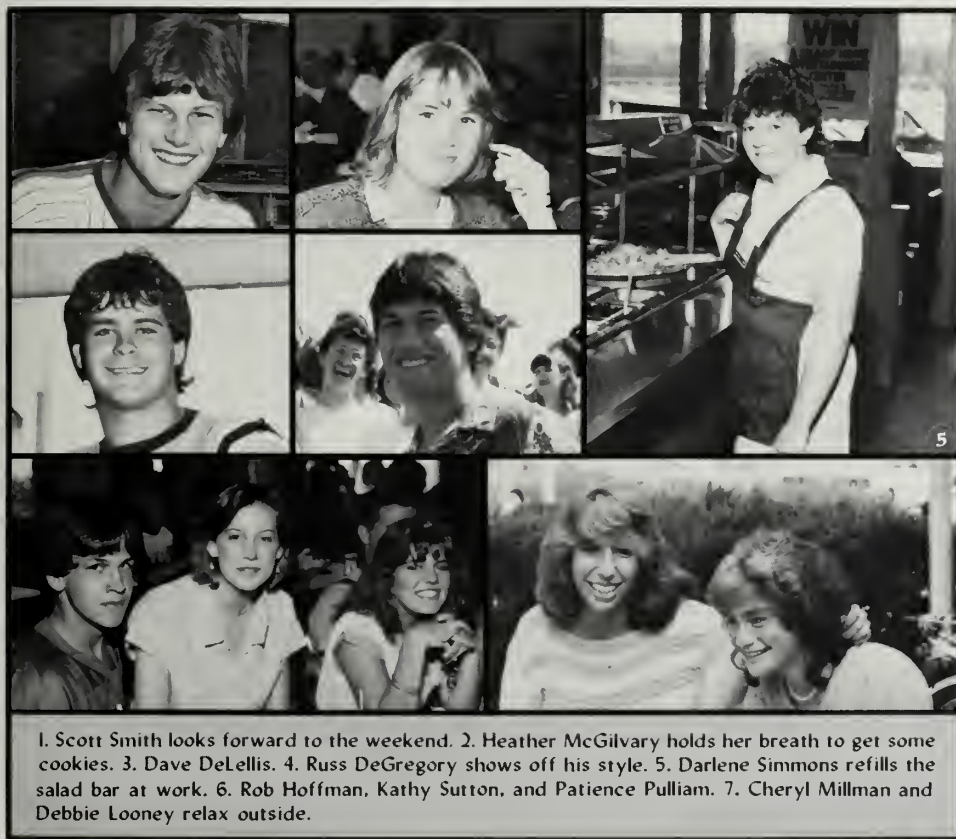

Seniors

The class of 1986 has its own distinct and impressive personality. The seniors showed individuality while still retaining a feeling of class unity. Our class consisted of varying types of people, each with his own strengths and weaknesses. These people merged together to form a group of well rounded young adults. The seniors of 1986 followed old traditions but they also dared to set new traditions which will be continued in the years to come. The class organized annual events such as the senior citizen luncheon, but they also initiated new ideas such as electing the first Homecoming King.

The seniors provided the younger students at Bedford High School with excellent role models. The seniors displayed an overall warm, likeable personality. They had good attitudes about themselves and others. The seniors have exhibited class spirit and they have shown the meaning of comradeship.

The members of the class of 1986 should be proud of the way they contributed to Bedford High School and proud of the strong bonds they formed during their high school years.

1. Scott Smith looks forward to the weekend. 2. Heather McGilvary holds her breath to get some cookies. 3. Dave DeLellis. 4. Russ DeGregory shows off his style. 5. Darlene Simmons refills the salad bar at work. 6. Rob Hoffman, Kathy Sutton, and Patience Pulliam. 7. Cheryl Millman and Debbie Looney relax outside.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Four Years Of Dedication

If one word can be chosen to characterize Mrs. Gullage, faithful would be it. Throughout our four years at BHS, she has been a committed, reliable influence, not only in the classroom, but also outside of it, where she has been coach and class advisor.

During her term as our advisor, Mrs. Gullage has been involved with many projects. Just this year; for example, she has led us in planning our candy bar sale, the senior citizens' dinner in December, and the senior project this spring. Last fall, she helped the guidance office in developing the Junior/Senior Planning Notebook. On top of all this, Mrs. Gullage actively partakes in our school community, frequently attending BHS sports events to enthusiastically cheer us on. Mrs. Gullage's devotion has paid off most significantly by her effective class organization. Since the start of our freshman year, she has continued to lead us through assemblies, dances, fund-raisers, and proms. Now, as we close our high school years, she faithfully guides us to our final activity, commencement exercises and graduation.

1. Senior Class Advisor: Mrs. Gullage. 2. Mrs. Gullage checking out what Pam Dutra and Tricia Conway are up to. 3. Senior Class President, Crystal Murphy, shows great spirit for spirit week. 4. Senior Class Officers (top row): Class Advisor, Mrs. Gullage; Prom Chairmen, Christine Martell, Carol McClatchey, and Debbie Looney; (bottom row): Secretary, Pam Dutra; Treasurer, Tricia Conway; President, Crystal Murphy; Vice-President, David O'Neil. 5. Mrs. Gullage working with the Sr. class officers. 6. Mrs. Gullage definitely gets around. Here she's visiting with the Soccer-Hockey cheerleaders; Michelle Pitts, Crystal Murphy, Pam Dutra, Karen Cerpial, and Kara Flynn.

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN

Do you remember when . . . ? Now is the time when seniors start remembering their early years of school. Our class went through different transitions with the Bedford school systems. Center School was closed and people were moved around for their last year of elementary school; then the junior high school was changed to the middle school. Throughout all these changes, we have some great memories.

How many of us performed in the talent shows? Do you remember the track meets between all the schools? What about the annual school picnics? Our trips to Maine were supposed to be educational! What did you learn?

Holidays were special when we were younger. Santa would visit all the schools on Christmas. We were able to show off our costumes on Halloween by wearing them to school. That was special to us.

We can't forget our great teachers though. One famous teacher was Mr. McCormick; he had a great way of making learning enjoyable. Mr. Timmins and his bananas, or Mr. Hirsch, or Mrs. Reed!

Just sit back sometime and remember those years. You would be surprised at what you can remember!!!

1. Michele Lipczer, Chelby Blodgett and Leslie Carroll (seniors) in third grade. 2. A young Alicia Casey. 3. Freshman Denise Paganis and Nancy Damery are dressed for their first spirit week.

SAD GOODBYES

OUR LAST FAREWELL

The heart doesn't count the years,
Doesn't understand unending tears,
The loneliness, the future fears,
As ending of friendships nears.

Four great years behind us,
Memories fill the heart,
It's time to look forward,
Time to make a new start.

None of us knows what the future will tell,
It is something we cannot buy or sell,
Just turn around and wish me well,
Don't look back; it's our last farewell.

6. The world held its breath as TWA Flight 847 was seized by terrorist hijackers on June 14, 1985 and held for seventeen days. Of the 145 passengers and eight crew members on board, only the death of U.S. sailor Robert Dean Stethem occurred.

7. The space shuttle tragedy which has been compared with J.F. Kennedy's assassination, occurred on January 28, 1986 at 11:38 A.M. The whole nation watched the explosion of the space shuttle that killed Mike Smith, Ellison Onizuka, Francis Scobee, Judith Resnik, Gregory Jarvis, Ronald McNair, and school teacher Sharon Christa McAuliffe.

8. Model Christie Brinkley and Billy Joel held their wedding on March 23, 1985.

9. President Reagan prepares for his arm's talks with Mikhail Gorbachev.

10. Rock Hudson, age fifty-nine, was one of America's leading leading men. In the summer he became a leading man of another sort when his admission that he had AIDS drew a belated tide of public attention and funds to the disease.

11. Madonna brought about a new meaning to the word "belly button" with the performance of her many hit songs.

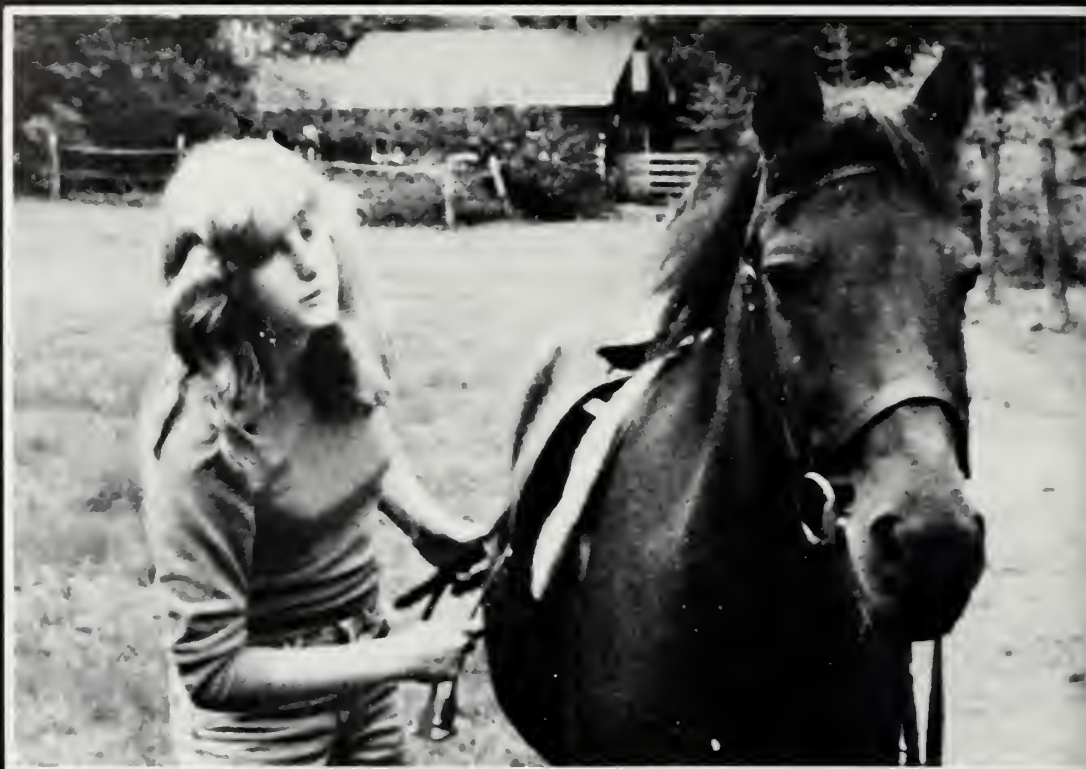

12. Old friends Winnie Mandela, wife of imprisoned leader Nelson Mandela, and Bishop Desmond Tutu met secretly in her Soviet home, where her visitors are restricted, sharing rare smiles in their increasingly desperate country. The struggle over apartheid boiled up again and again, and more than nine hundred blacks died violently.

Deborah Taft June 1966-July 1984*

Deb . . .

*The time is gone, we have to say,
But the memories we shared,
will never fade away.*

*The moments of laughter,
The moments of cries,
We will all remember within our minds.*

*If we could save time in a bottle,
And if words could make wishes true,
Our thoughts would be empty,
Except for the memories,
That we once shared with you.*

*And as we wind on down the road,
Our shadows taller than our souls,
There walks a lady we all know,
Who shines white light and wants to show,
How everything still turns to gold.*

*We still think about you, Deb,
As we always have been,
In the memories of yesterday,
Forever within.*

Underclassmen

Most students eagerly anticipate their freshmen year since they will finally be in the high school. Once the school year begins, however, freshmen discover that it is not as wonderful as they thought it would be. By this time the upperclassmen have convinced themselves of their own superiority and tend to look upon the freshmen class with great distaste.

The next year is really not much better because, although they are no longer freshmen, sophomores are definitely not upperclassmen. So they are stuck in the middle. But, no matter how depressing life may seem, at least the sophomores know they are no longer freshmen.

Students gratefully enter the junior year; finally, they are upperclassmen! Also, junior year is the year when most teenagers are eligible for their driver's license, thereby attaining a sense of freedom. Of course there are still people around, such as parents, teachers, and especially seniors, to remind them that they are not quite adults yet!

1. Beth Goodpaster, Patty Sciaraffa, and Laura Dmochowski travel to class. 2. Amy Smallwood and Michelle Kenney look cheery on a Monday morning. 3. Lillian Joy and Mary Glazier, friends forever. 4. Peter Corea concentrates on what is being said. 5. Julie Oates tries to face the school day. 6. Sophomore Hunks: Peter Dion, Jim Colliton, Dave Baumann, and Tom Bumann.

Have you ever been really proud of yourself? Have you ever felt so good about something you did that you feel like giving yourself a pat on the back? Sometimes you feel this way because of some spectacular pass you made to win the football game, or you've finally reached that goal for which you had worked hard. Many high school students were asked what their most glorious moments were. The answers show that the people of BHS have reason to be proud.

"Freshman year the girls' swim team was swimming against Wayland. It was a very close meet and it came down to the last event, the 400 free-style relay, deciding the winner. I was anchor on our team. I caught up to the girl $\frac{1}{2}$ of a length ahead of me, and I beat her, winning the meet."
-Laura Maxon

"My proudest moment was when I made the honor roll in the third and fourth quarter in my Sophomore year."
-Judd Hill

"In Sr. High, I won the Bedford Minuteman Essay Contest. My essay was about the Shawsheen Witch, the boundaries of Bedford, and the Bedford Flag. I won first out of 35 entries, and a $200 bond. Then I read my essay to the public on Pole Capping Day, making everyone in my family proud-especially my grandmother."

LOCKERS

To a stranger roaming the halls of BHS the lockers appear like pastel-colored metal boxes against the walls. But BHS students know that the lockers hold all of our prized possessions, personal touches, and memories.

A locker provides a home away from home for high school students. It is the only place in an impersonal building which belongs to an individual person. These elongated metal boxes can reveal their owners' personalities and thoughts. Some lockers are completely coated with decorations, while others are absolutely stark. For instance Pam Ricker's locker has been adorned with various pictures of hunks, cuddly animals, and popular sayings. On the other hand, some lockers have only a small spattering of photos.

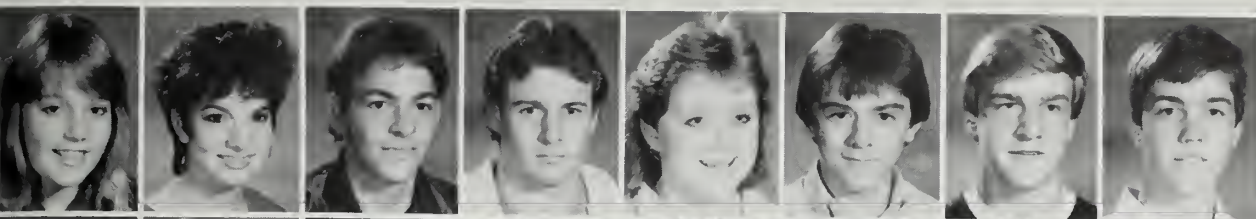

Lockers also have quirks in the way they function. Some refuse to open, others refuse to close, and some do both. Several must be kicked closed and others have to be forcefully jerked open. Combination locks also provide more problems when they won't open or when their owners forget the combination.

The location of a locker is important. The majority of the people inhabiting each hallway are from a single grade. The most horrible fate is for a student to have his locker in a hallway swarming with BHSers in a lower grade than his. This year it seems like upper A is covered with freshmen while, as always, the seniors take over E wing. The location is also important for convenience. If a locker is splat in the middle of the school, the student has it made. But if the locker is off in some Siberian corner of the school, the person has to carry several books at a time.

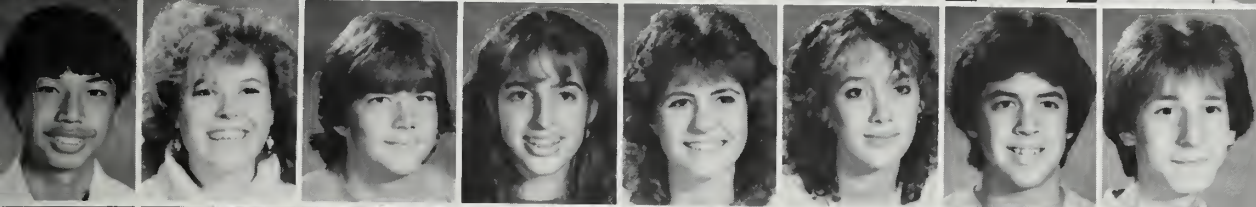

The state of order in a locker can say a lot about a person. There are people who are very organized and their lockers have notebooks, books, and belongings all lined up in some logical order. On the other end of the spectrum are those whose lockers look like modern art. These are so "skillfully" arranged that if one book is pulled out, every article in the locker is bound to come tumbling down to bombard the owner.

These cold, lifeless lockers are of key importance to students. They provide a home base for all the activities throughout the high school career. These boxes probably hold much we would like to forget and a few things we would like to remember from a whole year at BHS.

Being a "FRESHMAN"

Graduating from a big, tough eighth grader to a wimpy underdog freshman of Bedford High School certainly has its drawbacks. For one thing, there is no one younger than you to act "cool" in front of, (maybe that's why freshmen are always acting so ridiculous, unlike seniors!?) and for another thing, there are plenty of people to make you feel inferior.

But, it's not all that bad. Meeting all those new people can be fun and exciting, especially when you land a date with that person you had a crush on when you were in kindergarten and he was in the third grade. The change to high school can be enjoyable and challenging if you take full advantage of all the opportunities at your door. Sports, clubs, and activities can be a great way to make new friends and relax from the pressures of school work. Soon those embarrassing moments of freshmanhood will be part of "senior memories." Consider yourself lucky if Fate has exempted you from these Common Freshman Embarrassing Moments:

1. Desperately trying to follow a senior's directions to the third floor. "Just take the elevator at the top of lower C wing. That takes you to the guidance office in upper B wing. Ask someone there where the stairs are to F wing."
2. Going to gym class for the second time, well prepared with sneakers, shorts, and shirt, only to realize, just as the bell rings, that it's odd today and you have art at the other end of the building.
3. Tripping up or falling down the stairs in the middle of passing time, spilling your books everywhere- especially in the A/B wing staircase where half the school hangs out between every period.
4. Walking by an older "friend" who is supposed to be mature, but dumps your books all over the stairs as he says hi, and throws in a good push.
5. Walking into a classroom the second week of school and noticing, just as you sit down, that it's not your class.
6. Falling with a full lunch tray in the middle of the cafeteria.

1. Myra Szachara, Jeff French, Debbie Looney, and Sandy Macdonald, laugh at embarrassed Susan Bishop falling down the stairs. 2. Jeff French helps Mathew Smith find his book. 3. Senior Linda Pyszynski shows Brian Smith and Jamie Lewis to an unknown territory.

SCIENCE

HUMAN BODY

This course is for good for aspiring morticians. Learn how to prepare the body for the public appearance.

MEDITATION 1 & 2

Learn to escape from pressures by innocent ancient meditation.

Academics

Although one may often forget, the primary reason for school is academics. We attend high school to improve ourselves intellectually and emotionally. Every aspect of high school is important in the development of adolescents, but all other school activities are superfluous to the main goal-learning.

1. Mr. Phinney smiles about a student's voice. 2. Sue Clancy and Paul St. Amour work on an experiment in lab. 3. Mr. Cacciola takes care of Kerry McGovern. 4. Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Donovan enjoy a day outside. 5. Louie Nocca and Joe Quinn work on an engine in class.

The people responsible for the achievement of this goal are the faculty and the administration. In this era of high-tech jobs, some may consider the role of school personnel inferior or easier than other jobs. This is not true. When one considers the job of the faculty and administration, it is evident that it may be the most important in our society. These adults mold the future of our country. The adults of tomorrow are developed and impressed upon during their school years. The people who take on this responsibility do their best to create people who will contribute positively to others.

The faculty and administration of Bedford High School should be comended for the job they are doing. The school runs smoothly and the graduates of BHS are well prepared for college, the job world, and life in general.

AFTER THIRTY-THREE YEARS IN HIGH SCHOOL . . .

At this point, there are not many people who have been at our school long enough to be able to compare the Class of 1986 with that of 1956. Mr. Melanson, one of our assistant principals, is someone who has. However, besides being "a lot younger", he says that there are no fundamental differences between today's students and those of the late 1950's. Of course the styles, the dress and the dialect have all changed, but underneath, he sees the same types of kids. Now, after thirty-three years at Bedford High school, Mr. Melanson will be "graduating" along with the Class of 1986.

During the past thirty-three years, he has assumed many crucial roles in the school. When he first started out, he was a math teacher, later to become the chairman of that department. Since then, he has been a class advisor, has spent about a decade as the varsity baseball coach and helped to found our chapter of the National Honor Society. After all that, one would think that anyone would be looking forward to retirement!

However, Mr. Melanson is approaching this milestone with mixed feelings. Although he has many post-retirement plans to which he is looking forward, he has enjoyed his years at B.H.S. He sums up his feelings by saying, "I've loved it all!"

Thank you, Mr. Melanson, for all of the warmth and patience you have shown through your years of hard work. We will miss you!

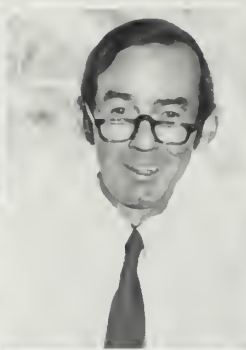

Mr. Melanson is known to us all as a gentleman and a fair disciplinarian. Pausing for a moment's reflection, Mr. Melanson keeps a watchful eye on the back parking lot.

ENDANGERED!!

Armed with a grade book, backed by principal Duggan's bullwhip, and ever shielded by a vital sense of humor, the BHS teacher is a courageous, if rather odd, species. Though we students humor the poor devils, we are also very conscious of the qualities which make a good teacher.

One vital quality is the pure guts it takes to venture into the wild world of adolescents. Anyone who can tame a gang of wild teenagers and rabid parents deserves to be paid for hazardous duty. Compared to braving the kids bouncing off the walls of the freshman hall at 7:45 in the morning, World War II was child's play.

We love a teacher who will answer our silliest question, such as everything we always wondered but were afraid to ask about artificial respiration on Annie the Dummy. ("Can you really get addicted to rubbing alcohol that way, Mrs. Smith?") We admire the stick-to-it-iveness we've found in that terror on high heels, Mrs. Golley, who is still rallying the Math League every month after many demoralizing defeats, and who keeps her work standards high, giving us something to reach for. She really knows what she's doing, even if her calculus class doesn't.

Known for his great labs is our Mr. Ullmann, who spends hours rigging up all sorts of fantastic experiments. He is certainly dedicated; who else can boast a fan club urging befuddled physics students everywhere to "think physically"? Who else would walk into walls just to demonstrate the physics of why it hurts?

BHS boasts a host of P.E. instructors with more variety and character than Disney's menagerie. They have the patience of Job. One memorable example among the ranks is our optimistic philosopher, Mr. McManus, who cheerily spreads his "good vibes" around and lends a new meaning to the word "sports."

We BHS students like the teacher who lets us know what's expected of us; who realizes what we can and can't do and helps make it fun to do it. We like them to take confusing subjects and make them simple, with tricks like Mr. Palmer's infamous Big to Small Rule. We ask the zeal of Mr. Tingley and his buddy Mr. Bones (Bones being the most underpaid teacher in the school, but probably the best dressed), as they explore the intricate human anatomy.

All that we really ask of our teachers is that they do the best they can. Hopefully they will help us to understand baffling subjects and also share with us some of their individuality and humor.

DRAMATIC, COMPLEX, EMOTIONAL . . .

Humanities is a senior English class which incorporates literature, music, and visual art into one course. Students learn about artists of the past in order to better understand man and to enable them to look into the future. It is a class which strives to stimulate students to think more than anything else.

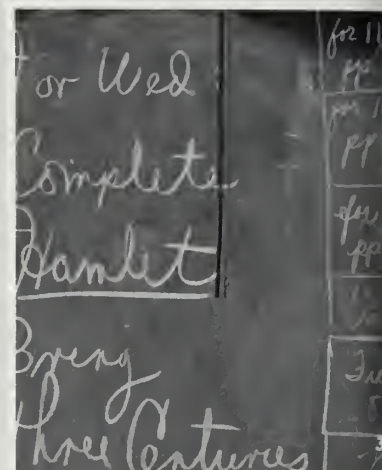

When a high school student takes a science class, he learns about the physical and psychological makeup of humans. If he studies history, he will learn about man's achievements and failures, and he will better understand himself in the context of time. But it is in the Humanities course that all of this information is integrated. In this course, students come closer to understanding themselves and other people.

Since the class was developed by Mrs. Kinney seventeen years ago, it has been team taught. This year Mr. McCarthy and Mrs. Kinney each teach the literature, grammar and vocabulary. Mrs. Sorgi commutes between the high school and middle school in order to teach the music portion, while Mr. Pilla instructs students in the visual arts. Having three teachers for each class is highly beneficial for the students. They are exposed to several views and insights, therefore they can form their own opinions and ideas based on different points of view.

Humanities greatly expands the horizons of the students who take the class. Students learn to appreciate different types of music, they learn to see into a work of art, and they are exposed to ageless pieces of literature. This class opens doors to subjects to which students have not been exposed. This year of learning whetts the appetite to learn more.

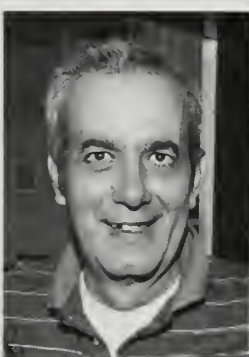

The Humanities classes have a reputation for being difficult, which they are, but it is well worth the effort. An incoming student need not have any previous knowledge of art, he must only come with an open mind. Through out the years, rumors fly around about the impossible evaluations and creative projects which students are required to do. Students should not be intimidated by these remarks because with some effort and the ever-available help of the teachers, these tasks can be completed. In Humanities classes, a student will truly learn to think.

1. Mr. Pilla explains the significance of St. Peter's Cathedral to his Humanities class. 2. A typical Renaissance painting. 3. Humanities students' homework assignments. 4. Mrs. Kinney and Mr. McCarthy are the teachers of the literature section of the Humanities courses.

1. Mr. Cacciola does what he does best. 2. Mr. Wilson tries to unbaffle Kirsten Ebersole.

OFF THE WALL!!

For other people, 1985 may be the Year of the Ox, or the year of graduation, etc., but for many English students at BHS, 1985-86 is the year of Mr. Maxwell. After teaching in the Bedford school system for nineteen years, he has now moved up to the high school from the middle school. Although he has always hesitated to change schools because "he'd miss the kids," the desire for change, among other things, finally prompted him to make the move.

Now teaching Logic and Philosophy for seniors and advising the freshman class, he finds that the same kids are better here. Being more mature, the students present a greater challenge as Mr. Maxwell now deals with them on a whole different level. When he first came to the high school, Mr. Maxwell wondered if teaching should be approached in a different manner, now that he was dealing with older kids. However, he was advised by the head of the English department not to change his charismatic style. Indeed, even Mr. Maxwell describes himself as being "off the wall-I enjoy being like that!" Obviously, the students enjoy it, too, and his manner of teaching has proved to be very effective. "Getting the material across can be done along with making it fun- that's my philosophy." Perhaps that's why he is so popular with the students. What other teacher has had the school Glee Club sing at his wedding?!

Mr. Maxwell enjoys teaching at the high school because he feels that what he is doing is really an important part of the students' lives. Apparently, the students like having him here, too, as they say he understands and relates to them well. Certainly many students were "psyched" to have him come to the high school after having had him as a teacher in the middle school.

From us all, Mr. Maxwell, welcome!!

A LOOK AT A UNIQUE CLASS . . ART IV

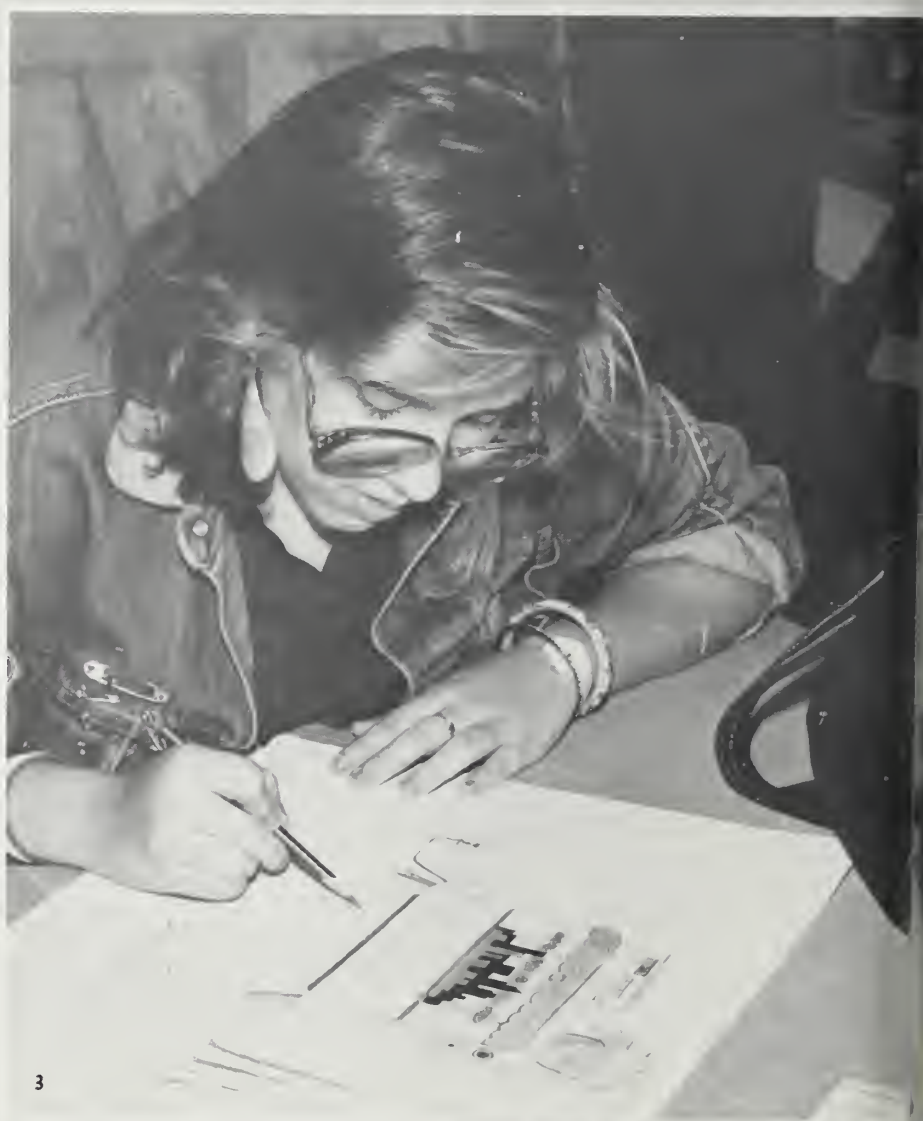

To most people Art IV is just a class, something they consider taking to ease their course load during the senior year; but to the students who actually end up in the class it is more than just another major.

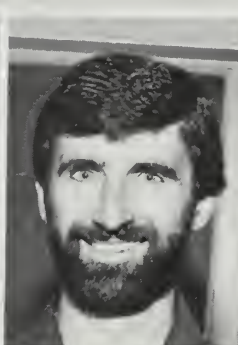

The F period bell rings and slowly D9 fills up. Ten students filter in and go through the usual rituals of getting out the latest project, sharpening pencils, and mixing paints. After a few minutes the room settles down to an almost hypnotic silence.

The class is made up mostly of seniors, and everyone has had previous art experience- if not an art major, then ceramics or photography. There is so much talent in this one class that students serve as inspirations to each other.

The main focus of the class is a little different from those of other art courses offered at B.H.S. Since several of the students are planning careers in the art field, the main emphasis of the class is the development of a senior portfolio full of original, individualized pieces of work.

Mr. Barron, Program Administrator for Art and teacher of Art IV, stresses the need to make all works as unique and personal as possible.

THE EXCHANGE

For the past several years, Bedford High School has seen a variety of foreign students in its halls, with representatives from New Zealand, Sweden, Brazil, and most recently, Thailand. Yet for the first time, this past year has seen a group exchange of students between our own high school and the high school of Villar, Spain. Last April, Mrs. Probolus took a group of nine students to Villar, and in September, a group of seven Spanish students visited Bedford. According to all the participants, the program was a great success and hopefully will be repeated in years to come.

Because both sets of students lived with individual families and went to school during their stays abroad, they were able to experience not only the language, but also the culture of their host country. The Americans were amazed at some of the differences between the two cultures. They found the food and mealtimes to be completely different in Spain, (Have you ever tried cheese curls cooked in olive oil?) and the curfews for youngsters were also quite different. (What do you mean be home by 2am on a Saturday night?!!) Basically, the Spaniards have a much more relaxed attitude toward life than do Americans. Unlike Americans, who are continuously rushing from one activity to the next, the Spaniards pursue life at a much more leisurely pace, always finding time to stop and chat with their friends. This attitude was clearly reflected by the Spanish students' extraordinary ability to repeatedly miss the bus and to be late for classes during their stay in Bedford.

Overall, besides being a tremendous learning experience for the students, both with the language and the culture, the exchange provided an opportunity for many friendships to develop, as the students related well to each other and to many others that they met.

HELPING OUR NEEDS

Occupying a very important, yet relatively unknown, position at Bedford High School, Dr. Davis is our psychologist. Licensed by the Massachusetts Board of Registration of Psychologists, she is primarily with the Bedford school system for grades kindergarten to twelve, although she spends most of her time with grades six to twelve.

Responsible for dealing with the psychological component of the law, Dr. Davis is kept very busy, having a three-fold purpose in her work: psychological evaluation, psychotherapy, and consultation with parents and teachers. Direct psychological support is provided by Dr. Davis to students on an individual and group basis, both long term and short term. In describing her job, Dr. Davis states "it's a dynamic process requiring the cooperation of parent, student, and members of the staff," a cooperation which she feels fortunate in receiving.

But one of the most important aspects of her work seems to be individual attention to the student. If, at any time, a student has some type of problem, he is free to seek her out and discuss his concerns in the strictest of confidence. She especially stresses her concern for students who need help but don't know how to go about getting it, and the importance for the students in this sensitive age group to know that there is a place to go and someone to talk to.

Dr. Davis feels that one of her goals as psychologist in the Bedford school system is "to explain and to influence human behavior." She states that she tries to accomplish this goal through understanding child development, school environment, and the joint interaction of these with the needs of the Bedford community.

In D and E wings, the outskirts of Bedford High, lies the department of occupational education comprised of the business office, home economics and Industrial Arts departments.

It is the largest department in the school and one of the most popular. All of us have wondered when we will use the likes of geometrical indirect proofs as adults, but in the occupational education department, any skill learned can be one of value in the job world, whether it be typing, stenography auto shop, early childhood, or woodshop. This department offers practical hands-on courses without the heavy academic demands of English, math, and science.

Just about every graduating student has taken at least one course in the occupational ed. department, and each of these students can be assured that the skill he learned will be useful. As no other department does, the occupational department blends an academic education with a technical education.

Bedford's Metco Program began in September, 1974 with 21 first grade students. Teresa, Debora and Stacey are three students who began school in grade I at the Davis Elementary School.

These students have had to endure a long bus ride daily for the past twelve years. There were times when the bus would get caught in a snowstorm between here and Boston, and the students would not get home until 7:30 p.m. During the Blizzard of 1978, the Metco students were not able to come to school for one month because the buses could not get out of Boston. Mrs. Parker collected the homework for the students, and dropped it off at the Metco Office in Boston so that the students would not fall too far behind. There have been a lot of good times spent together such as: Picnics, Halloween parties, Christmas parties, Host-Families' get togethers, and a closeness which is undescrivable. Teresa, Debora and Stacey are excellent examples of what Metco is all about.

METCO

In 1986, the first Bedford Metco Students will graduate. It has been twelve years of business and fun, and it has paid off. We feel that attending Bedford Public Schools was worth while. We have developed an understanding of the importance of a quality education. The people of Bedford were loving and caring; they reached out to help us. We just want to say, "Thank, you!"

There were many things that made us think that a Boston school would be better. Getting up early was definitely a problem. Who wants to get up at five o'clock? We were on the bus so long, we might as well have lived on it. Then we always got stuck in traffic or we broke down on the highways which made us get home late all the time. However, we think that our receiving a better education was worth making those sacrifices.

Oh! We can't forget about our host parents. We can honestly say we are going to miss them. They were like our real families and we want them to know that we love them.

We will miss the town of Bedford, and you will always be in our hearts. Love, Metco graduates

THE CHEMIST IN THE GYM . . .

Walking into Arthur McManus' office one sees a man emitting a positive attitude toward life. A well-known figure around the gymnasium Mr. McManus is especially recognized for his caring attitude towards the physically less fortunate students in his classes. He calls physical education "the most embarrassing class because no one can hide their inadequacies." In addition, he has always had a concern for those students who were unhappy with school, a concern he attributes to his own adolescent years when you and school never agreed. Often, Mr. McManus will post a poem outside his office in an endeavor to make his students "feel lucky for what they are." His curriculum too, is geared toward helping people. During the course of a year he exposes students to life activities such as tennis, golf, and cross-country skiing.

During his long teaching and coaching career, which began at Borger Junior High School in 1953, Mr. McManus's success has taken various forms. A dedicated tennis coach, he modestly credits the achievements of his teams to the athletes themselves, yet those who work with him know that he has the ability to make people feel comfortable and develop what he calls "positive chemistry" among the people on his teams and in his classes.

Mr. McManus plans to retire in 1988, but this year's students "have been so good," he says, that he is having second thoughts. We wish him success at whatever he chooses and thank him for the chemical wonders he performed at BHS.

1. Mr. McManus rides one of his many vehicles to school. 2. A view of the high school.

Sports

Although academics alone can provide a sizeable workout, many students still take on the additional commitment of a sporting activity. Whether the sport is football or swimming, rifle team or track, each involves a great deal of time on the part of the individual; yet nearly half of the students at BHS go out for at least one sport. Why? The answer could be the enjoyment of physical activity, desire to become involved and add something to the high school experience, or maybe simply the sheer pleasure the student receives from being a part of a team striving to be its best while, at the same time, having a good time. Whatever the reason, athletics at Bedford High continue to be a very popular activity, both for participants and spectators. Our athletes all continue the tradition of BHS athletics- work to the best of your ability, reflect a positive attitude, and make that season the best possible.

Captains Dave O'Neil and Mike DeMattio led the Varsity Football team through a tough season. The 1985 team showed that they were special when, despite their defeats they always played their best and never gave up. Mr. Sabourin, Mr. Petrillo and Lt. Col. Campbell coached the team and also instilled in them the ideas of a good sportsman.

Bedford Buccaneer Football players began officially preparing for the 1985 football season in August, by attending their infamous football camp. Throughout the season, the players practiced for 2½ hours a day, five days a week regardless of weather and holidays. They devoted much of their time to grueling practices and meetings. All of this hardwork did not show up on the scoreboard but it did show up in the way the team played the game and in their attitudes.

Junior quarterback Tom Bauman led the offense of Park, Fallon, DeMattio, French, O'Neil, Donahue, Young, Harrison, Rice and Isnor. The defense of seniors: Donahue, DeMattio, O'Neil, Fallon, Young, Harrison, and Smith; juniors: Rice, Welch and Scheik; and sophomore Jarvis gave other teams good reason to wear plenty of padding.

Although the scoreboard for the football team did not show it, the players and fans are sure to remember all of the time, dedication and enthusiasm that the members exhibited. The varsity football team can be described in one word, persistent.

1. Some members of the varsity football team demonstrate how to play leap frog. 2. Eric Isnor whizzes by a Wayland opponent. 3. The B.H.S. football team makes a smashing entrance. 4. Bruce Park, Dave O'Neil and others successfully stop a Fitchburg player. 5. Co-captains Dave O'Neil and Mike DeMattio. 6. Kevin Donahue flies in for the tackle.

The 1986 Boys' Soccer Team consisted of 8 seniors, 5 sophomores, and 4 juniors. The team was led by Don Cardwell which didn't seem to be a disadvantage to the team. The offence was controlled by Mark Alcaide and Neil Amidon, who were D.C.L. All-Stars for the season, scored numerous goals were an attribution to the team. Goalie Pete Stamatakos was a superb goalie, and made several incredible saves. The offensive line was also occupied by Eric Larsen, Alan Sayles, and Chris Massa. Defensive wise the back fields were protected by Paul Harrington, Sam St.Amour, Darrell Hansen, Chris Hamby, Seamus Garrett, and several other players that were always supportive of the team on and off the field. The tri-captains were Neil Amidon, Mark Alcaide, and Seamus Garrett who eventually washed his uniform after about 7 games. Their record in no way represented their skill, and determination. They were constantly fighting for victory and a chance for states. Unfortunately the Bucs missed the chance to make states by a mere point. The team leaves behind several skilled players, but loses 8 graduating seniors.

ONLY A POINT AWAY

The varsity soccer team finished with a winning record of 8-6-2. Despite missing the state tournament by a mere point, the season was spectacular. The team fought hard to continue its tradition of determination and dedication. Bedford for the first time in 4 years beat Lincoln-Sudbury, ending the season with a happy note. Bedford will continue its excellent tradition next year with a sound foundation of skill, and athletic ability with its' returning sophomores and juniors. Several players on the team end the season with recognition of their true athletic excellence and were rewarded by receiving D.C.L. awards. They were: Kerry McGovern, Kim Alcaide, and Kristin Dougherty, who also received league high scorer booting in 18 of the Bucs points, and was noted with 13 assists.

QUALITY NOT QUANTITY

This years varsity field hockey team consisted of four seniors, seven juniors, one sophomore, and two freshmen. Despite having a minimal amount of players, the team proved to be extremely tough competitors.

For the first time in history, Bedford tied the unbeatable Acton-Boxboro team with a score of 0-0. Also, Bedford beat its arch-rival Concord, wiht a score of 1-0. Tri-captain Krissy Yatsko scored the only goal of the game with a reverse scoop in the last thirty seconds of the game. To end its season, Bedford tied the Hingham team with a score of 0-0. Two weeks previous to this game, the unconquerable Hingham team had won its division title.

Both the offensive and defensive lines were very strong and aggressive players. The Bedford field hockey team is one that always gives their opponents "a run for their money."

Led by tri-captains Lucy McGovern, Christine Linz and Krissy Yatsko, Bedford's team improved throughout the season. This years Dual County League Allstars were Kathy McGovern, Leslie Fryer, Lisa Linz, Alice O'Hara, and Christine Linz.

RACING TO THE TOP

GIRLS' CROSS-COUNTRY

The Bedford Girls' cross-country team finished third in the league with four wins and two losses. With a new coach, Maureen Sullivan, new course, and seven new members, the team drastically improved their standings. Bedford outran Weston, Boston Latin, Acton/Boxborough, and Natick and everyone was optimistic. Lincoln/Sudbury and Concord were our last and hardest meets. In summary, the season was tough and there were times when our goals seemed unattainable, but in the end, we did our best, and generated a new respect for girls' cross-country.

A contributing factor to our success was the rigorous training and helpful coaching of Coach Sullivan. We spent most of our time on the road, training an average distance of 6-7 miles or working more intensely by running intervals on our track. Mrs. Sullivan, an experienced runner herself, provided us with constant support and inspiration. We really appreciate all the time and effort she put into training us, as well as the ice cream and apple treats!

People think we're crazy as we run by limping, panting, and sweating and occasionally we think so too, especially when our course goes around the football and soccer fields. We are thankful for the wooded portion of our course because it gives us a chance to recover from trying to make a good impression on the players. Probably the worst aspect of cross-country running is the anxiety prior to a meet. Some familiar quotes on meet day are: "I feel sick," "It's only twenty minutes of our lives," and "I'm dying, but can't stop." But nothing beats the feeling of accomplishment we have after doing well in a race. Many say runners are masochists, but we say the rewards are worth the pain. You will lose a few pounds, build up endurance, and learn the mental perseverance valuable in life.

Massachusetts Division 4 4th/37

ON THE RIGHT TRACK

The boys' cross-country team, defending D.E.L. Champions, returned to the hill and dale determined to continue its reign and place in the All-Divisional, Massachusetts State Meet.

The dual meet season saw the harriers extend their unbeaten string to 16 over two years as they ran rough-shod over to opposition to a 9 win, no loss record. The competition for the top seven varsity positions was intense throughout the season, as 9 different runners were able to garner slots at various meets. The depth of the varsity, and their intense competitiveness, paid off in post-season competition and saved us from disappointment and frustration.

Then the state divisional qualifying meet date arrived, and the team hoped to convert five months of preparation into an invitation to the state finals. Mike Callender (#1, 2) was hit with a virus. The team dug deep for "a little extra" and placed fourth out of thirty-seven teams led by Brad Hamby (18th), Greg Swider (19th), and Phil Lawrence (23rd) and earned their slot in the state finals (only the second Bedford team to ever do so.)

ON THE MARK

Keeping with tradition, the girls' swim team posted a winning record of 6-4 at the end of the fall swim season. Led by tri-captains Veronica Welch, Jenny Maxon, and Allyson McLaughlin, the Aqua Bucs overcame a lack of depth to finish fourth in the Dual County League. The girls were coached by Sandy Maczko for swimming and Bob Baker for diving.

Post season swimming was definitely the brightest spot of the season. The girls placed a team-high fourth at the Conference Championships, and went on to place fifth at Sectionals and seventh at States, while competing against over 30 other teams. Courtney Chubb, a two year All-Scholastic swimmer, and the Dual County All-Stars Rene Holtzman, Karen Hill, and Jenny Maxon racked in points for the team at these meets. Divers Veronica Welch and Laura Cook also qualified for the Sectionals but were unable to compete due to injuries. The team hopes to continue the winning tradition next year.

The Boys' Varsity Swim Team had a fun season despite an overall record of 1 and 9. The young team led by co-captains Jeff Eagles and John Carter had only four juniors, five sophomores, and six freshmen. For some of the seven new members this was their first time swimming competitively. Considering this, they all did well.

Bedford was able to send swimmers Ron Armstrong, Bill Busch, John Carter, Todd Dworshak, Allen Lavelanet, Shawn Reynolds and divers Jeff Eagles and Brian Mazcko to the North Sectional Swimming and Diving Championships. Jeff and Ron also represented Bedford at the State Finals this season.

Coach Mazcko has watched the team improve dramatically as their best times decreased steadily. She is looking forward to a stronger team in 1987 after this rebuilding year.

TEE TIME

The Bedford Golf Team will draw on the experience gained from this season's efforts to improve their season next year. Tom Haggerty will take the leadership role as next year's captain. Tom's play was the bright spot of the season and he along with Chris MacIntosh will try to guide the younger players to greater heights. Dave Greelish, Neil O'Brien, and John Pecora will be depended upon for shooting lower numbers and the freshmen group has the enthusiasm and talent to improve overall performance. A positive attitude has been a hallmark of this team and Coach Reynolds feels the D.C.L. will have something to contend with next year.

FIRE!

The Rifle team did not do as well as expected. The potential was there, but despite the effort, the team was unable to pull their act together during the short winter season. The team did, however, end the season by defeating Braintree in a decided victory of 855 to 804.

Riflery is an activity which requires full concentration plus a shooting ability which improves with experience. It is for this reason that Coach Fichera believes the inexperience of the Bedford team proved costly when shooting against teams which were older and more experienced. Next year's team will have the experience and the ability to do well.

Under the new direction of Coach Greg Norton, the girls' varsity basketball team met the expectations of everyone with their tremendous winning season. Led by six returning lettermen co-captains Kerry McGovern and Kristin Dougherty, Jen Dyson, Jenny Maxon, Lucy McGovern, and Kim Alcaide, the team hustled, pressed, shot, and stole their way to a strong finish in the Dual County League. Adding further depth to the team were underclassmen Kathi McGovern, Laura Maxon, Caroline Ennis, and Heather Bensley, each of whom made significant contributions to the team's success.

In their drive towards qualifying for the State Tournament, the Bucs had many highlights. In addition to big wins over Newton-South and the always competitive Acton-Boxboro, the team pulled out a close game in the final minutes against Concord, a game in which 4-year varsity player Kerry McGovern scored her 1,000th point. McGovern, as well as teammates Jen Dyson and Kristin Dougherty, were also named to the DCL All Star Team.

HAVING A BALL

Although the boys' basketball team did not have a winning season, they did provide some exciting home games for an at times rambunctious crowd. The Bucs shot, dribbled, and passed their way into the hearts of their fans. And despite their losing record, the Bucs did establish a strong base of upcoming players for next year's season.

Unfortunately for the team they lost a few players midway through the season, thus reducing their rank to a mere seven. However, coach Greenwood pulled up Danny Callahan from the junior varsity, who then went on to keep the Bucs alive on the defensive boards. Some other standouts for the team were senior co-captain Scott Smith, with his tremendous defense and hustle, Taavo Godfredson, with his outside shots, and senior co-captain Mark Alcaide, who led the team in scoring and was selected to play in the league All-Star game.

The Bedford High School Varsity Hockey team did not have an easy season. As of this writing, the team has a discouraging record of two wins, one tie, and eleven losses. The team had to fight for their wins.

The team was led by Coach Lane as well as co-captains senior Mike Ferri and junior Tim Murray. The young hockey team consisted of only three seniors which may account for the tough season but it also insures a more seasoned team for next year. The members of the team endured the late night practices and put a solid effort into the season. Unfortunately, it did not show on the scoreboard.

This was a building year for the Girls' Indoor Track team. It was their first year as an official member of the Dual County League. It was also Mrs. Sullivan's first year coaching the track team. She did an excellent job and is a well respected coach as well as an excellent runner. Even though the team's record wasn't perfect, they still put on a good show for such a small and new team.

The newcomers helped out a lot, one of the more outstanding ones being Laura Dmochowski. Hopefully more girls will come out for next year's team, therefore improving the team.

Winter Track has many rewards but running in below freezing weather and getting up early for Saturday meets were not the favorite aspects of the sport.

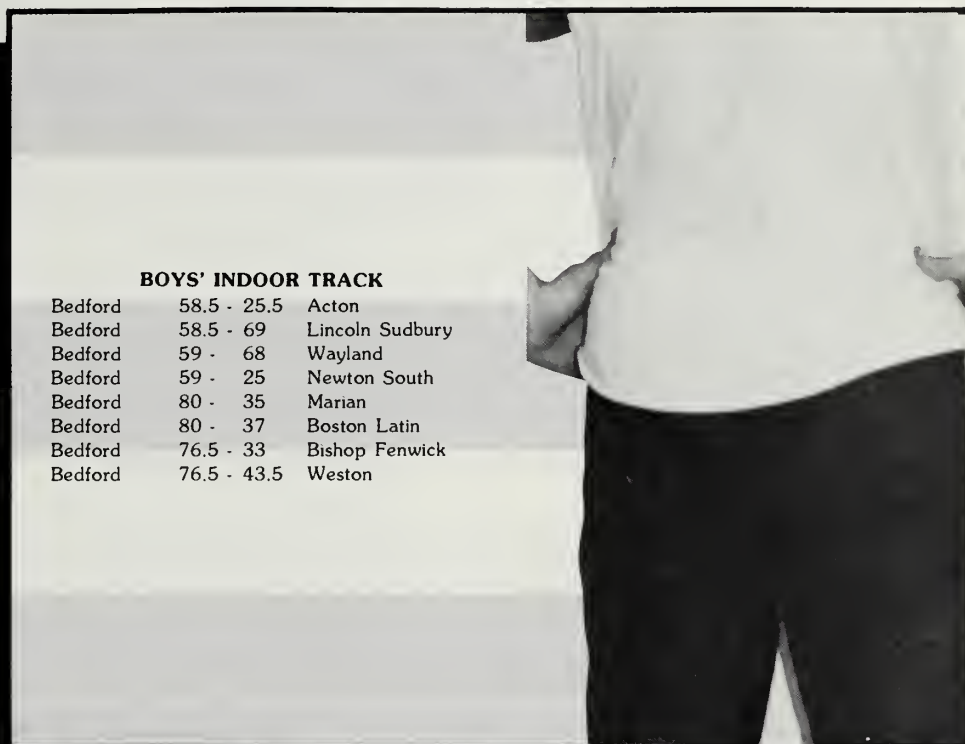

The seniors of the team were Pam Beckwith, Yael Kupiec, Lynne Carroll, and Sue Melville. Lynne Carroll and captain Sue Melville qualified for the state meet.

Track is a good way to excel in an atheletic activity, meet people, and, of course, to lose weight. The team is looking forward to an even better season next year.

Why be cold? Why be wet? Why be sweaty? Why get Illio Tribial Band Syndrome? Why act sick? Why strain yourself? Most of all, why run track? Because these students are the self-proclaimed misfits of society who aren't good enough for hockey, basketball, swimming or the rifle team.

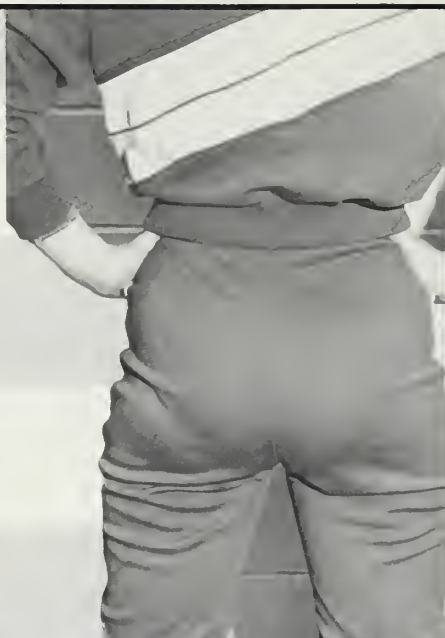

After all, with nicknames like "Squid" "Sweet Pea", Greece Lightning", and "Nell Snudon", one can tell what kind of people these students are. Luckily, however, they have swell coaches like Gerry "The Jokester" DeCapua and Jake Sullivan who were able to mold these lifeless lumps of flesh into streamlined running machines. Missing a few vital elements which make up the undefeated compound, the team finished with a very respectable record of 6-2 and a third place finish in the All League Meet. Outstanding efforts for the team were by Mike Callender in the mile and tri-captain Greg Swider in the 2 mile, who held the '85-'86 DCL indoor records, and the state-qualifying performances of tri-captains Neil Amidon and Jamie Harden, Phil Lawrence, Sam Whike, Peter Stamatakos (the DCL's fastest hurdler), David O'Neil, Chris Massa, and Don Campbell.

The team certainly gained something from their dedication and devotion; their experience might be termed as a run of Life. They trained hard for competition so that they could compete for the glory of the school they love . . . BHS.

Setting their sights on at least two wins during the winter season, the girls' gymnastic team achieved this goal by defeating Winthrop and Wilmington, leaving the team with a 2-9 record. With the instruction of coach Sue Holzberlein and support of co-captains Christine Martell and Carol McClatchey, the girls worked at new and more complex moves for their routines, resulting in steadily improving scores for the individual team members.

This year, the strength of the team came from the six seniors: Christine Martell, Carol McClatchey, Renata Pomponi, Josie Rodriguez, Veronica Welch, and Lauren Heggsted, with Renata Pomponi and freshman Angela Corea competing as all-arounders. Overall, with the return of many underclassmen, and the presence of the incoming freshmen, the team had a very rewarding season, as their dedication and energy was very apparent in their improvement over the length of the season.

The '85-'86 ski season proved to be one of achievement and improvement. Under the direction of coaches Helen Folweiler and Dale Wilson, and Quad-captains Brad Hamby, Doug Elder, Robin Folweiler, and Lisa Linz, the team trained hard all season.

The team consists of two subteams-downhill and cross-country. Skiers may choose to compete in both or to specialize. Downhill skiers tend to race both, even though it is not required, as it has been the past two seasons. The downhillers can use cross-country to help them to earn a varsity letter.

The girls' cross-country team has had an outstanding season. On one given race day the team competes against five other towns. It was in the second race where the girls' moved from their previous fifth place standing to third. This years team was led by Robin Folweiler, Meredith Evans, and Jennifer Sutton.

The boys' cross-country team is led by Matt Mazzotta, Robert Hauge, Eric Larson, and Brad Hamby. The boys' team has had a difficult season due mainly to the lack of size and experience. Many of the skiers were recruits from the downhill team and also were first-time cross-country skiers. Also the absence of Elder due to illness had a negative effect on the team since he was one of their top skiers.

On February 12th the cross-country team sent ten racers to the state meet in Worthington. Representing the girls' team were Folweiler, Evans, Sutton, Linz, and Kirsten Ebersole. Racing for the boys' were Mazzotta, Hauge, Larsen, Hamby, and Eric Niblack.

The downhill team had a season marked by improvement. The returning team members showed improved performances, while some of the newcomers proved to be very strong competitors.

Some of the outstanding skiers were Hamby, Eric Larsen, and Gene Holmstead. Folweiler, newcomer Dana Larsen, and Susan Clancy were the top scorers for the girls'.

SHE MADE 1000!

On February 7, 1986, Kerry McGovern became the first girl in the history of Bedford High School to reach the 1,000 point plateau in basketball. The stage was set with Kerry's twenty point performance in a win over Newton-South. Thus leaving her with only nine points between her and the 1,000 point milestone. As the gym filled with over 300 eager and enthusiastic students, parents, and other spectators, the tension continued to mount. While the Bucs went on to win in a come-from-behind victory over Concord, the definite highlight came midway through the third period when Kerry stripped a Concord player of the ball and drove to the basket, sinking points 999, and 1,000. All play was stopped as Kerry was presented with the game ball by past coach Joe Patuleia.

Congratulations Kerry! We've proudly watched your achievements these past four years, and we all and admire what you've done.

1. A cake given to Kerry for her success in basketball.
2. Kerry, are you a little excited?
3. Amy Bruno, Tricia Conway, Carolyn Soderstrom, Christine Montgomery, Lori McNeany, and Kerry McGovern take time out of gym class for a picture.
4. Mrs. Sullivan presents Kerry with her congrat's cake.
5. Kerry and Pam Beckwith on their way to class. What devotion!

Student Life

Twenty years from now when you think back to "the good old days," what will you remember most about your high school years? Will it be the law of cosines? The date of the Battle of Hastings? The twenty lines of Julius Caesar that you memorized for English class? Probably not. You will be more likely to remember the musical comedy, writing for the newspaper, or the solo you finally learned in jazz ensemble. Other memories may arise about the Citizenship Committee carwash, acting in the Tournament of Plays, competing in powder puff football, or any number of enjoyable activities you have been involved in throughout your high school years.

None of these activities is required for graduation. Why do so many BHS students get involved, then? Well, participating in any one of these activities is good as a distraction from the academic side of school. The friends you meet through these activities are another good reason for being involved. How to get along with others is a very important lesson learned from any of these groups, from majorettes to Debating Club. You learn to give and take with people, a skill not taught in many classrooms.

1. Tracy Hector, Michelle Hirsch, Jessica Meyers, Robin Hannon, and Sharon Wachsler take a break at rehearsal. 2. Boots are popular footwear in BHS. 3. SING SING A SONG

Being involved with the music department as a member of choir or ensembles can prove to be challenging and rewarding. The largest vocal group is the choir, a distinguished group of about sixty male and female voices. This group meets every other day. Going into the classroom these people are individuals, however they display their talent at the many concerts during the year as a united group. Involving much hard work, the preparation for the POMS fall and spring concerts, the Holiday Concert and this year's musical comedy, "Bye, Bye Birdie" is a lot of fun.

Also under the direction of Keith L. Phinney is the high school ensemble. This group of girls joins the choir for the holiday and spring concerts. Like the choir, ensemble meets every other day.

SING OUT LOUD

The Madrigal and Double Sextette are two of the favorite groups which perform at Bedford High School's concerts. They include a variety of select voices and require auditions for membership. Madrigal meets in school every other day while the sixteen girls of Double Sextette rehearse after school two days a week. The versatile Madrigal group, performing a wide variety of musical styles from many different time periods, participates in the school's concerts, with the option of being in the spring musical. In addition to the concerts, the Double Sextette also performs for various groups and organizations in the surrounding area.

BLOWIN' IN THE WIND

The Wind Ensemble, directed by Mr. Paul K. Smith, is the only honors level major in any of the non-academic departments. Because of its limited enrollment level, it is a very select group and contains many of the top musicians of Bedford High. In addition to preparing for their own performances in the Winter Band and Spring Concerts, members form the core of the Marching Band, Jazz Ensemble, Pit, and Orchestra. Undaunted by the daily 45 minute rehearsal, the talented students, who excel on every instrument from trumpet and tuba to oboe and bassoon, can often be found practicing after school, either on their own or in small trios and quartets. Their strong dedication to music has produced incredible renditions of such demanding pieces as "Procession of Nobles" by Rimsky Korsakov and "An American in Paris" by Gershwin. With diversity ranging from classical to modern pop, the Wind Ensemble never fails to give an exceptionally outstanding performance that captures the hearts as well as the admiration of their audience.

JAZZ

IT UP!

One of the most exciting groups in the BHS music department is the jazz ensemble. This group is comprised of twenty-five talented musicians primarily from the Wind Ensemble. The Jazz Ensemble, which has a more relaxed atmosphere than the Wind Ensemble, performs at many events, including the winter and spring concerts. This performance group gives many students the opportunity to write and perform solos. Under the direction of Mr. Smith, this assembly of trumpets, saxophones, tubas, bass, guitar, and percussion puts together an awesome display of blues, jazz, contemporary and big band rhythms.

KEEPING IN TUNE

The largest instrumental group in Bedford High, the Concert Band, is slightly smaller this year in comparison to years past. However, the group's enjoyment in playing has not diminished, especially with Mr. Smith as the conductor. Meeting every other day, Concert Band plays a variety of music, ranging from marching band music to musical suites. The group performs in the Winter and Spring Concerts, in all of the parades, in Concert on the Green, and at Graduation, as well as having the option to be a member of Marching Band.

HAPPILY INSTRUMENTAL

Although it is one of the less visible musical groups at Bedford High School, the Orchestra has undergone tremendous improvement in the quality of its performance in the past four years. Under the direction of Mr. Richard Hagar, the group is composed of violin, viola, cello and string bass players who join select musicians from the Wind Ensemble to perform in the Christmas and Spring Concerts. However, since 1985, the String Orchestra alone has produced enough talent to conduct a separated Chamber Music Festival each May. The difficult pieces that were formerly beyond the capabilities of the students are now easily within their grasp. Compositions by such famous composers as Mozart, Bach, Beethoven, and Handel were diligently prepared to delight this year's audiences, and to further demonstrate the Orchestra's great potential for future growth.

MARCHING BAND

Band director Paul K. Smith's second season brought many exciting changes to the BHS Marching Band and helped the group to have a very successful and memorable year. New blue and gold uniforms with Aussie-style hats and white shoes instead of the old black and white suits transformed the band, giving them a look of polish and professionalism that was admired even by the opposing teams. In addition, the majorettes' colorful blue and white flags provided a dramatic finish to the show's conclusion, Beethoven's "Ode to Joy." Because of their success in achieving a more modern marching style, Mr. Smith hopes to expand this aspect of the program with the formation of an official flag squad in the next few years.

Unlike past seasons, the 1985-1986 band performed almost entirely under student direction. Drum Majors Renata Pomponi and Rick Dacey proudly brought the band onto the field and conducted them during exciting numbers like "Material Girl," "Axel F Theme," and "Big Noise from Winnetka." Behind the scenes, they took care of many of the small tasks necessary for a good show, such as setting up for rehearsal, taking attendance, straightening hats for uniform inspection, and announcing "Please remove your car from the back parking lot."

Competition became a very rewarding extension to the regular season as the Marching Band captured two major titles. At the Abington Band Jamboree in November, Bedford came in second for small bands, receiving enthusiastic applause from a crowd of more than 3,000. A month later, at the Quincy Holiday Parade, the musicians won three prestigious New England Scholastic Band Association Champion third place awards, not just for the best band, but also for their outstanding Drum Majors and percussion section.

Although the band had a great deal of fun performing in the Bedford Day and Concord 250th Parades and during their Friday night at Boston's Quincy Market, the highlight of the year was definitely the trip to Washington, D.C., in April for the 1986 Cherry Blossom Festival. The four day extravaganza was well-worth the ten hour bus ride and many days spent selling raffle tickets to raise money. One of only twenty-five bands across the nation to be invited, the group proved itself once again to be the exciting and exceptional "Marching Pride of Bedford" that will continue to delight and impress audiences for many years to come.

MAJORETTES

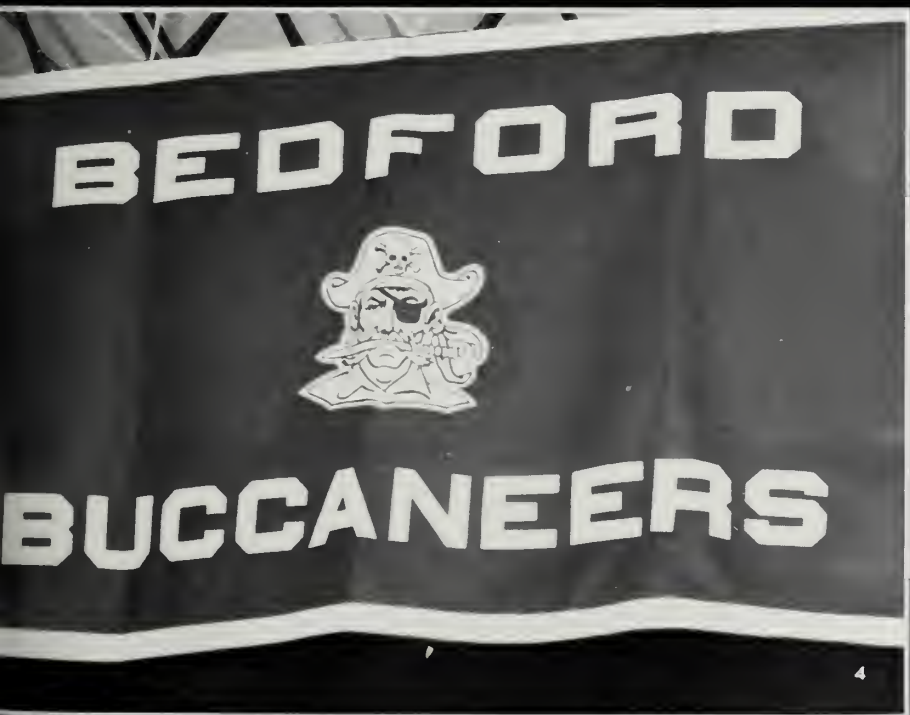

Practicing throughout the summer months and into the school year, the majorette squad of twelve girls put endless hours into the perfecting of their various routines. Leading the way were the four seniors, co-captains Carol McClatchey and Chelby Blodgett, Sue Drohan, and Josie Rodriguez, three of whom have been majorettes for the past three years. During the year the squad has greatly and visibly improved.

Among the activities for the majorettes, in addition to the Saturday football games, are the Bedford Day Parade, Memorial Day Parade, and the Concert on the Green. This year, unlike past years, the squad also performed with the Marching Band at Quincy Market, the Concord Day Parade, the Abington Band Jamboree, and the Quincy Christmas Parade. The greatest honor was being one of the twenty-five marching bands to perform in the 1986 Cherry Blossom Festival.

The squad would like to extend a special thanks to Mr. Smith, Marching Band Director, for all of his support and guidance in preparing new routines.

PEP RALLIES

The bleachers of the gymnasium quickly filled as the students arrived, each person going to the stands assigned to their class. As the band played, many of the students were asking questions concerning a variety of things. What was Mr. Petrillo going to pull this year? Who was that senior girl exhorting the crowd with her yells, sign and clever disguise? And, among freshmen, "Just what's going on anyway?" The period quickly passed as the various teams were presented, speeches delivered, and the cheerleaders and majorettes performed their carefully prepared routines. Finally this climax of Spirit Week reached its peak with the announcement of the five finalists for Homecoming King and Queen, the winners of which would be announced at the following day's eagerly anticipated homecoming game and at the homecoming dance.

Then, later into the fall, Bedford High hosted yet another Pep Rally, this time for the football team as they prepared to march up with old-time nemesis, Concord, in the traditional Thanksgiving Day game. Due to some untimely rain the rally took place in the gym, rather than outside with the everpopular bonfire. Many students and adults turned out for the rally, in addition to alumni who were checking in on their alma mater.

COMMITTEES

Providing another alternative to sports, the various clubs and committees of Bedford High appeal to a wide variety of students. From the Math League and Debating Team to the Legislative and Citizenship Committee, these organizations give different areas in which students of all grades can excel and demonstrate their own abilities.

YOUNG SCIENTISTS

The most exciting academic happening of the '85-'86 school year was the founding of the Western Suburban Science League. Meeting with great success in this initial year, Bedford High's science team owes much of this achievement to the efforts of organizers Mr. Tingley, Mr. Palmer, and Mrs. Krueger. Each month they effectively search for and recruit students who have a talent in the specific events for that month's competition. This Science Olympiad involves three various fields of science; in November the events were "Chemical Analysis", "Trees", and "Bottle Music". Bedford did not do very well in these "trivial and irrelevant fields", to quote a member; but in December, when "Bugs", "Topography", and "The Science Handbook" were the topics of this cut-throat competition, the Bedford team came through with a final showing of fifth place out of thirteen teams. Highlights included Neil "The Spider Man" Amidon leading the way to a first place finish in "Bugs", with support from fellow co-captain, John Solomonides.

This is one academic activity which promises to grow in years to come, especially with the strong supporting cast of underclassmen.

NHS

The Bedford High School chapter of the National Honor Society, an organization of juniors and seniors selected for their outstanding scholarship, character, service, and leadership, reached its thirtieth anniversary during the 1985-1986 school year. Over these thirty years the society has grown and become more active in the school and community. This year was no exception.

In order to be eligible for NHS, a student must participate in a variety of activities as well as retain an 88 average. Once in the organization, the students provide services for the town and school. These include selling coffee and doughnuts to the night school members, supporting a Thailand orphan, helping with Career Day, tutoring underclassmen, participating in the Heart Fund phonathon, and helping out on Parent's Night.

The National Honor Society tries to impress on its members the importance of working up to their potential as well as serving others.

AFS

The American Field Service is a group that serves foreign students who wish to come to the United States to learn about our culture. In the past AFS has been successful, and this year has been no exception.

AFS sponsors many fund raisers and activities to help enrich the program. Some of AFS's well-known fund raisers and activities are the selling of the ever famous, great tasting popcorn bags, the annual fruit sale in the spring, the flower sale, and International Weekend. International Weekend is one of the most enjoyable of AFS activities; it's one weekend when all the AFS students living in local towns visit the Bedford AFS chapter to talk about their experiences.

More importantly, however, these activities help the AFS members to know the AFS student for that year. This year the student is Kruaval "Annie" Suteerachi from Bangkok, Thailand.

Mrs. Rainis, who is the advisor of AFS at Bedford High feels that it is an exciting program for the adventurous student. The students in AFS who either go to a foreign country or host a foreign student get a real in-depth feeling for language and culture. AFS is a truly memorable experience!

"ANNIE"

As I prepared to leave home to begin my AFS experience, my excitement was succeeded by my anxiety. I could not imagine what my life was going to be like, since there are so many differences between my country, Thailand, and America, such as language, culture, food, and so on. In the first few months, after I arrived, I felt so disoriented since I could not understand what people talked about nor could I express my feelings and the many other things I wanted to say. That's awful. But the positive things made me feel it was all worthwhile.

I've tried to figure out why America and Thailand are so different. The reason that I can think so far is the different religions, and the way they are taught. About 95% of Thai people are Buddhist. Buddhism teaches us to be reserved, respectful and obligated. Consequently, the Thai people, especially the teenagers, lives are completely different from American teenagers.

I really needed some time to adjust to American culture. However, there are a lot of nice things with which I am impressed and would like to retain. I had a wonderful Christmas which I never had before. I got to ski which I have no chance to do in Thailand since it's always hot all year. I love it! I love everything that I have gotten from my AFS experience, even though sometimes it is sad, especially when I am homesick. That's life! I have experienced so many feelings for the first time. Now I know better about the world "patient". My parents always tell me to be patient and everything will be fine; now I know what they mean.

Since almost everyone asked me "How do you like it here?", I would to say that "I love it!", and AFS too!

TELEMEDIA

Professionalism, that is what Tele-Media has been striving for this year. Since the start of the new morning show, BHS Today, the group has been searching for ways to make their show similar to the real news programs.

The older members have been busy training recruits on the new equipment which was received last year, and they have had big success. There is also an addition to the faculty to help teach the students more about communications. Many changes have been made on the morning show, the male newscasters are required to wear ties at times, and the jokes about school lunches have been stopped.

The special event for Tele-Media this year has been the broadcasting of BHS Today over the cable system throughout the town of Bedford. If a student is absent from school, he can find out what is happening here by turning on the television. The Tele-Media crew has been improving the show successfully and therefore it makes our homeroom period more interesting. It is apparent that in the next few years Tele-Media will keep improving and have the "professional" show for which they are striving.

WRITERS

It has been a long time since Bedford High has had a real newspaper; however, a real school newspaper has developed. The current paper combines the creative and innovative talents of a large number of students at BHS. The product is a completely student-run newspaper that has taken BHS by storm.

The literary talent throughout the entire staff is impressive, in addition to the photographic expertise of Scott Udell and the artistic talents of Paul Harrington, Karl Hanf, and Jeff Eagles. What the staff provides the reader through Forum is not only an entertaining and informative perspective of school events, but also carries on the tradition of Emit and Blue News by editorializing on world events.

Parallax, the literary magazine of Bedford High School, has had a phenomenally successful year; however, this is par for course, for in the past two years Parallax has won awards in the New England and American Scholastic Press Associations contests.

Parallax attributes its success to the hard work of its small group of dedicated staffers, including Jim Solomito, Uli Reinisch, and Lesley Shaw, who meticulously review the material to go into the magazine. It is not every poem, short story, photo, or picture submitted to Parallax that goes into it, for it is the staff's careful reviewing which has brought the magazine its success this year.

Mr. Desilets deserves credit for his participation in putting together Parallax, in addition to the school classes who each donate $100 a year to the magazine. It is the support of the school which has made Parallax an important part of the school and will continue to make it a success in the future.

Since 1934
BUCKEYE
DONKEY BALL

Just when we thought BHS was getting a little dull, the football team decided to hold a donkey basketball game to stir up some excitement. That's right, the high school teachers battled it out against the combined team of elementary and middle school teachers on live donkeys! This "assmine" game was played according to the basic rules of basketball with one exception-the players were required to ride on and shout from the backs of donkeys. As many teachers soon realized, this game required some strength and a great deal of patience and guts; it was certainly much more difficult than it looked.

This unusual event, which was held in the high school gymnasium, brought together fans of all ages in Bedford. It definitely proved to be quite entertaining, for the audience loved watching the teachers learn to expect the unexpected. Frustrations rose from all aspects of the game. Not only did the players have to get the donkeys to move in the direction they wanted, but they also had to prove their expertise in shooting. By the end of the evening, new meaning had certainly been given to the old saying "stubborn as a mule."

In addition to the game itself, some other highlights were the half-time donkey-diamonds contest and the demonstrated "pooperscooping" expertise of Mr. Petrillo. But when all was said and done and the final buzzer had gone off, the high school teachers emerged with a well-deserved victory in a very memorable confrontation.

SURPRISE!!

Surprise!

Do you remember having a day when nothing goes right. It's even twice as bad when you find yourself in the eyes of a camera. A camera can show proof of something not necessarily meant to be seen by anyone.

Did "you" ever fall asleep in class, or were you the opposite- totally spastic . . .

Being spastic is fun. Things that aren't usually funny seem like a riot. So, please excuse us for our comments, for we are spastic!!

(1) O.K. so who says that Sheila's asleep? (2) When you wake up, did you imagine being in outer space? (3) Now, I don't know what you're trying to prove Jeff, but are you holding a hostage in the girls room, or are you being "held" hostage? (4) Just what exactly are you trying to say Mrs. Hovsepan? (5) Is it possible that you have something stuck in your teeth Steve? (6) Its Debbie, but he's not really taking a picture of me, is he? (7) Jennifer, what in the world are you doing? (8) Are you sure you want me to answer that? (Joe?) (9) Sorry, but I'd rather go to heaven.

IF YOU LEAD A GOOD LIFE,
SAY YOUR PRAYERS,
GO TO CHURCH,
AND DRINK JACK DANIEL'S,
WHEN YOU DIE, YOU'LL GO TO

TOURNAMENT OF PLAYS

Production night had arrived at last. People were rushing around frantically memorizing lines. The Tournament of Plays was held on November 22, 1985 at the BHS auditorium. The plays were all equally well performed and the awards were divided among them.

The Sophomores captured Best Play for "The Doctor in Spite of Himself", student directed by Uli Reinisch. Robert Sullivan captured the Best Actor award and Julie Hunt, as nervous as she was, won Best Newcomer.

The Seniors finally won the awards they wanted for years. Directed by Mr. (Doctor) Ben Maxwell, they performed "Baby". Kim Travers portrayal of baby gave her the Best Actress award, and her coach, Lesley Shaw, won Best Supporting Actress. Nate Sears as baby's grandfather won Best Supporting Actor.

Best Ensemble was given to the Junior class for "I Thought I Saw Gypsies", co-directed by Mr. Smith and Mr. Phinney. The Freshman class performed "The Eden Echo", and were directed by Ms. Giddis. All the classes put on great performances for the largest audience ever.

1. Sophmores Jessica Meyers, Danny Kennedy, and Carl Theobald talk as Julie Hunt listens. 2. Junior Bill Larkin searches for the meaning of thank you notes. 3. Sophmores Julia Hunt and Bob Sullivan get congratulated by seniors Lesley Shaw and Nate Sears. 4. Seniors Russ DeGregory and Kellie Pease try to make Kim Travers smile. 5. Freshman Michelle Kenney (center) scolds Lyz Galani and Ambriel Rosenberg for saying "man". 6. The Sophmore cast, First Row: Robert Flores, Danny Kennedy, Carl Theobald, Bob Sullivan, Neera Tanden, Jessica Meyers; Second Row: Jackie Weicker, Julie Brill, Kathy McGovern, Lore Chiepolis, Nicole Picard, Director Uli Reinisch. Missing: Julie Hunt. 7. Juniors Jim Larkin and Matt Huffman fight as Bill Larkin, Lynda Blair, and ChristiAnne Castro look on. 8. Senior Kim Travers (sitting) is frightened of the adults, Myra Szachara, Russ DeGregroy, Kellie Pease, Sheila Feltman, and Veronica Welch.

CANDY BARS AND COMPUTER DATING

"Won't you please buy just one more? It's for a very good cause . . ."

Sound familiar? Of course it does. You've heard those lines so many times that you have nightmares about them. You can recognize the approach of someone on a fundraising mission a hundred miles away, giving you ample time to think up an excuse not to spend your money. Don't deny it; we all have!

Fundraisers really have become part of life at BHS. They started in Junior High when we were told to start saving up for our high school proms and graduation, so we sold magazine subscriptions. Our efforts were rewarded by prizes ranging from candy to radios.

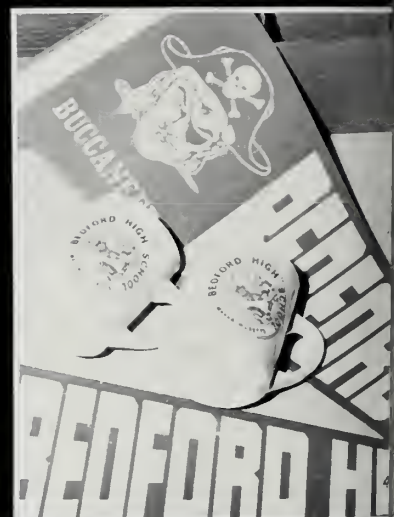

In high school we are hit from all directions to raise money. Class advisors, coaches, and club directors are all telling us that we must sell, sell, sell. The problem is finding something that people will buy!

Through the years, various classes and committees have used fundraising items ranging from Christmas ornaments to raffle tickets to citrus fruit. One of the most popular items to sell is candy bars. After all, the way to our pockets is through our stomachs.

If fundraisers are such an everyday part of our life, why do we have a hard time selling items? Probably because too many people won't buy anything. So do us a favor. Next time someone asks you to buy a green plastic kazoo or a Peruvian basket, ease his anxiety and buy one. Please . . . it's good for a good cause . . .

SIGNUM STAFF

Well, this years yearbaak turned out to be a lot mare wark than I had bargained far. But the long hours of endless hard wark, the frustrations, and the fun was well warth it.

The staff was rather small, so it took us longer to da what was needed. Considering that, I'd say that we did a great job.

Thanks far all the patience and friendship the staff gave me. This yearbaak would never have been accomplished without the individual effort of everyone wha was invalved, especially Mrs. Havsepian, aur yearbook advisor, and Mr. McCarthy taa, aur ather advisor.

Girls, always remember the gaad times we had while warking with each ather. I gat to know mast of you pretty well, and I wouldn't have missed it far the world! It was fun trying to figure aut haw to da a layout, haw to copy fit, haw to crap pictures, and mare. Wha can farget all the McDonald's faad we had on half days? Or haw about Mrs. Havsepian's expresian when she laaked over same af the pictures we had chasen! Try to remember everything we learned this year far "better" luck next year. Make those deadlines an timel

Gaad luck!

Hectic is the only word to describe the making of this yearbook. Although we rushed to meet deadlines, many were missed. The staff started out large but quickly diminished to seven permanent members.

The juniors of the group are Adrienne Tsang, Carole Cooke, and Jennifer Koenig. Adrienne worked on the business section of the yearbook by herself. Last I knew she was having a nervous breakdown. Jennifer and Carol were assistant editors who helped us a lot. Next year they are in charge and I wish them all the luck.

There were four seniors on the staff this year. Jenny Maxon was the Copy Editor. Her job was to make sure we had the articles for the book. Jen did a great job and I enjoyed working with her. Debbie O'Neil was also a Copy Editor and she did the winter sports section among other things. Jenny and I want to thank her for the amusing pictures and are wondering when the enlargements are coming in. Last but not least is Sandy. I'm glad to know her better. Thanks!

One person who supplied lots of fun was Mrs. Hovsepian; she knows some really hot gossip! It's been a great experience, one I'm not soon to forget.

Community

Consisting of only about 12,000 people, Bedford is relatively small compared to surrounding towns. However, in spite of small size, it still manages to provide support in a variety of ways for Bedford High. With groups such as the Bedford Athletic Association, which provides our varsity jackets and has recently provided funds for the renovation of the athletic fields, and POMS (Patrons of Music Students), with their ever-present chuckwagon at the football games, earning money for the music department, BHS has been very fortunate.

Even here in the yearbook we see signs of this support. In addition to offering scholarships at graduation, many corporations also provide financial aid to Signum by buying ads, as seen in the following section. Smaller businesses, parents, and students also support Signum by purchasing these ads. And, with the student-created Buy-a-Line, which includes messages from one student to another, there is yet one more element to this community support.

1. The ever-popular hangout, McDonald's. 2. The Bedford Flag is our part in history. 3. These are the buses which students ride for thirteen years. 4. The best place for a picnic is the Common. 5. Workers from T.J. Maxx: Kathy MacQuilken, Nancy Damery, and Debbie Lovely. 6. Base housing is the home for some of the students at BHS.

So read on, and when you look back on this section one day, let it be with fond memories of this Bedford community.

LUCY

A simple "Hi" when we first met,
But the memories hadn't started yet.
Day by day our friendship grew,
With each day bringing something new.
Always a smile, always a friend.
Always "I care", for I am your friend.
The things we've shared have meant so much.
Our friendship is very special.
And though the years may come to pass,
Our Friendship shall forever last.

LML

Thanks for the times that you've given me.
The memories are all in my mind.

Avast Maties!

Aargh! I am wind-swept! Thanks, everyone, for everything! Jenny, Tracey, Kathy, Kristen, Carol, Mark, Neil, Steven, and Chris - this is a never-ending invite for a reunion every year at the island - as long as the storms don't wash it away! Thanks to the Go-Go's - that includes you Sue. H! Hey Jenni - got any generic toilet paper? Poor Rollo! Thanks to Mom, Dad, Kerstin and Erika, who made me who I am today. Thanks to the troop - LC, LC, LS, SM, ND, SW, DB, LH, RB, DF, JW, CM, CA, VW, and everyone else who's helped me through- P.S., the Spaniards, those sports enthusiasts well, you all know who you are! Thanks for making B.H.S. as great as it was - and good luck to all of us - the class of '86!

Love you all!

Heather McGilvray

P.S. special thanks to: SB, CM, JM, KH, CRM, CRM, and KW.

You can't get where you're going
Unless you remember
Where you came from.
Who you are and what you are
Is the only thing you own.
Never lose it.
And NEVER . . . Ever . . .
SURRENDER.

There are so many people at Bedford High who have made the past four years so special. I've never known such caring people. I would like to say that we'll always be this close, but that's not realistic. So thank you for all the good times and the memories will keep me warm during the lows of my life. Although we may soon be parted, I'll never forget. Good luck to the class of '86!

Love to all,

Kristen

Thanks to: The Nantucket crew (Heather, Mark, Neil, Steve, Chris, Carol, Tracey, Jen, Kathy, Erika) - those were the best summers of my life; all of those from soccer (you know who you are); Lauren Veronica, Jen, Carol, Christine, Heather, Jeff, Greg, Mike C., Peter- you're the best, Doug, Johnny, Renata.

Thanks M.F. for all your love. All my love to Mom, Dad, and Karen, who have always been there for me when I needed them.

Somewhere there must be someone who wrote about how important your friends are to your life. Yet, since I can't find what I wanted, my own words will have to suffice. My high school years, especially, would not have been complete without my friends. Everyone has helped me out, whether it be giving me a ride home or consulting important papers. Even the littlest thing, like "Good Morning", can brighten my day and make me realize how special friends are.

Since day one, someone has always been there for me. Karen, we had great fun planning treasure hunts and making mud pies. Jenni, remember eating luncheons during nursery school? Carol, there's no one I'd rather share my initials with. And at B.H.S. I've met many new people: Sandy, Christine, Jeannette, Michelle, Susan, Heather, Kristen, Robbie, Steven, Chris (my twin), Evan, Greg, and DG.

Of course, there has always been Mom, Daddy, and Laura. You have continually given me your unrelenting support and love.

- I cherish you all -

I love you Sue Hawkins!!!

"You just call out my name and you know whereever I am
I'll come running to see you again.
Winter, spring, summer, or fall and all you have to do is call and I'll be there, yes I will You've got a friend."

-James Taylor

Let the good times roll:

the Go-Go's (Kristen H. the other CRM - Christine, Heather M. Michelle P., and Sue H.); the majorette squad (SD, HC, JR, KT, JD, SM, SP, SB, GM, AND TB) - especially Chelby - thankx for your help, encouragement and friendship; the Nantucket Gang (Heather, Mark, Tracey, Steve, Kristen, Jen Chris, Neil, and Erika); Russ, Mike, Sammy, Ally, RP (W.G.), TC, SG, CN, DH, NW, and Bop. Thankx Andi for being my big sister and friend!

Well it looks like we made it!!!

I wish the best of everything always to the Class of 1986! Never forget these times, hold them in your heart forever. Above all - keep in touch and keep smiling.

Love ya',

Carol

ow that the year is ending it's easier to see that school wasn't that bad. These have been our Glory Days to remember. Our classes were short compared to the amount of time spent outside of school.

There are no more "bells", 43 minute classes, or 20 minute lunches. Students have approximately 3 months to get to their next class on time. Those of us who return to BHS don't do anything we wouldn't do! Be early for once! And to those of you who don't return, Good Luck! After all, we've received our education for the year, and we are now intelligent people ready to face the future. It's time to "make new friends, but keep the old". Remember, life isn't always the best it can be, but when it is, it's great! These are our Glory Days!
